APPENDIX.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HOME MISSIONS.

Dear Brethren of the Gulf Coast Association:

Your committee to report on Home Missions at this session of the Association regret that the report must necessarily be unsatisfactory from the fact that we have not had access to the annual report of the Home Mission Board.

Since the last report of the Home Board the work has been enlarged in the Indian field and in the home field also. Bro. J. B. Hartwell has been sent to the Chinese in California, by whom he has been most cordially received, especially by the Christians among them. Already the Lord is beginning to bless his labors there, and he has baptised one or more converts.

It is expected this year to establish a Manual Labor School in the Creek Nation for fifty boys and fifty girls, and already about $10,000 have been secured to erect buildings, etc.

The Home Board has done a good and great work. Let us be more liberal and prayerful.

Respectfully, Z. A. OWENS, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ASSOCIATION MISSIONS.

The Gulf Coast Association is pre-eminently a missionary body, and yet such is the condition of the churches here represented that it is not deemed advisable to undertake any mission work as peculiarly our own, hence we have pursued the policy of simply co-operating with the work undertaken in our territory by older and stronger bodies. It is therefore the province of your committee simply to make a brief record of the state of the work to appear on the minutes for future reference.

The large and inviting field on the gulf coast has yielded precious fruits under the labors of our Brother Hamberlin, and the churches organized by him afford us abundant encouragement to hope for large results to be developed in the near future. The work in this part of the field, however, has suffered much from the lack of a missionary since the removal of Bro. Hamberlin, and hence has not prospered as well in the last as in previous associational years. The services of Eld. R. N. Hall has been secured for a part of this field, and we thank God for this accession to our working force, and we earnestly hope that a suitable man will soon be secured to undertake the care of the still unoccupied part of this field.

The State Mission Board of the Mississippi Baptist State Convention has entered hopefully upon the work in the city of New Orleans. The First Baptist Church is aided by the Board in sustaining Pastor Cole, thus enabling him to devote all his time and energies to the development of the church and the winning of souls to Christ, and it affords us great satisfaction to record the success of his labors in the steady spiritual growth of the church and frequent accessions by baptism.

The Board has also employed Eld. Tucker to do a general missionary work in the city. He, aided by the churches in the city, has rented a school-room on Napoleon avenue, and gathered an interesting Sunday-school, which promises to become one of the most important interests of this kind in the city. At the same place the missionary holds a prayer-meeting on Tuesday nights, and preaches on Sunday nights to a small congregation. This interest is in its infancy, but needs only to be patiently and prayerfully fostered to become a fruitful field and yield a glorious harvest. The field is large and difficult, and the laborers few indeed; "pray, ye, therefore, that the Lord of the harvest may send forth" other laborers.

In conclusion, permit us to say that the churches of this Association ought to aid in this work of missions by their prayers and liberal contributions. God has given us the most important missionary field on the Continent, and we may well count it an honor to share in the great work of holding forth a pure gospel for the salvation of the vast multitudes about us. Respectfully submitted,

W. H. TUCKER,
M. C. COLE,
Committee.

[C.]

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN MISSIONS.

In the absence of the chairman and the other members of your committee on Foreign Missions, I beg leave to submit the following in lieu of the report which you have a right to expect from this committee.

God's love, as expressed in Christ's mission to and His work for man, gives us the only standard by which the character and area of missionary operations may be gauged.

Jesus was the first Foreign as well as first Home Missionary. But for the foreign nature of His mission none would have known of the salvation of God, and but for its home nature it could not have been domiciled anywhere.

Homeless Himself, Christ made a home for His mission in living, loving hearts, and through and by these, ever since, His home and foreign missionary efforts have been carried forward.

The success of missionary work was at the start guaranteed by the wisdom of this plan, which allows its wondrous vitality full play.

Born and cradled in obscurity, its beacon light is now blazing in every part of the habitable world. The profoundest minds everywhere since Christ came have found abundant food for reflection in the chronicles of missionary operations.

No peril, no toil, no suffering daunt the true herald of the Cross. He finds his highest exaltation in self-abnegation and humiliation. Strong in his weakness, rich in his poverty, lofty in his purpose, assured of victory, he cries, "The world for Christ," as he presses the battle to the gates of death and hell.

Every believer in the Lord Jesus, by virtue of his relation to Him, is pledged to promote missions in all parts of the world. Failure to meet this obligation squarely and fully is the sin which lies at the door of many believers in this Association.

No one of us may urge the plea of ignorance as to methods, opportunity or ability.

As long as there is a man or woman in all the world unsaved we may not relax our efforts nor withhold from this work men, women, prayers, affections, time or money.

The faithful believer is crowned and rewarded at the end. How many of us will be entitled to even a penny when the Master pays the vineyard laborers?

I am not able to furnish the amounts given by the churches of this Association during the past year for foreign missions. It should, however, be our purpose year by year, to do more and more for the development and maintenance of this God-given work. Let our prayer be: "God, so burden the hearts of thy children for the salvation of souls abroad and at home that the full measure of devotion and sacrifice legitimately expected from each member of the churches of this Association shall be reached."

J. E. RANDOLPH,

For the Committee on Foreign Missions.

AMENDMENT BY BRO. HALL.

Resolved, That each pastor in the bounds of our Association be requested to preach, at some time during the Associational year, a sermon especially designed to attract the attention of his people to the object of foreign missions, and then take up a public collection for the same and report in the church letter the result, and that he use every effort to put the Foreign Mission Journal in every family.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

The committee is unable to furnish many details as to the work accomplished by the Sunday-schools of this Association during the past twelve months. The statistical table, as far as reported, shows about the same as that of last year.

It is encouraging to notice in the report from one school on the coast the fact that, although struggling against many difficulties, it has not only been self-sustaining, but has organized and supports a mission school located some distance away, a development of the missionary spirit that will surely "bring forth good fruit."

We are glad to add to the statistics a mission school, lately organized, located on Napoleon avenue in the city of New Orleans, under charge of Elder W. H. Tucker, who is in the employ of the Home Mission Board of the Mississippi Baptist State Convention.

The spread of the "Glad Tidings," the Gospel of our Lord, must be mainly done in this country through the instrumentality of the Sunday-school, and we would urge a greater attention to this branch of "our work" on the part of the members of this Association.

Respectfully submitted,

F. C. GREGORY, for the Committee.
